

Selena Robinson

In 1997, Carl Hoffman, a free-lance writer, wrote an article about the life and career of Selena Robinson. Summarizing such a life as Selena's will always be an impossible task, because of the countless contributions she made throughout her years as a mother, an activist, an advocate, a mentor, a volunteer, and so much more. Now, perhaps more than ever, Selena Robinson serves as an example of what we all need to do, what we all need to be, whatever our race, whatever our gender, whatever our church.

Bethel A Baptist Church was Selena's, and she drew strength from her faith and shared it with her Sunday school students, including Frederick Gordon, who later became her pastor. The mother of fifteen children, one of whom died at birth, Selena Robinson always reached beyond her own family with her endless energy and efforts. She made cupcakes which one of her daughters sold on the school bus, and she had her finger in every community "pie." She understood the costs of segregated schooling, and she was an integral part of the founding and efforts of the Transylvania Citizens Improvement Organization (TCIO). The law suit brought by TCIO led to the integration of Brevard High School.

The granddaughter of a former slave, Selena Robinson knew history better than most, and she shared that knowledge with her usual generosity of spirit. Like most historians, Selena knew that understanding the past would guide us all to a better future. She also knew that knowledge always has to be coupled with action, and act she did. Whether it was supporting the Schenck Job Corps Center, giving thousands of hours as a volunteer or serving on countless boards and committees, Selena never shrank from what she viewed as her duties to her community and her God.

All of Robinson's achievements were memorable, but the part of her life she was most proud of is depicted in the picture of her family tree and its dozens of descendants. While the walls of her home exhibited countless awards, her heart was in that assembly of those she loved. Selena was able to combine so many pieces of work, family, church, and community in way that few can manage.

As Carl Hoffman quoted in his article, Selena believed "We need to leave this world in better shape than we found it in." It's a lesson well taught by the life of Selena Robinson, a lesson we all need to learn.

Always There

It really has been a long time now since your leaving, and over the years I've treasured the memories of our times together. If by any chance you're not busy playing your harp right now, I would like to share this moment with you. There were times when my life was thorny and filled with despair, and you were not there. There were days that I thought would never end, and my troubles would not cease, and at that time you were not there. My heart became brittle, and my world fell apart, still you were not there. But you know, after all these years of being without you, I really was not alone. Even when my life was thorny and filled with despair, you were there because He was there. Even when my days were unending and troubles were at every turn, you were there because He was there. And when my heart broke into many pieces and my world fell apart, you were there because He was there. I want to thank you Momma for intrusting Me, your only daughter into the hands of a Great Man that will always love me and be there for me. I want to thank you God for giving me a Momma who loved me when she was here and will love me when I get there, Always.

God made a wonderful mother.
A mother who never grew old.
He made her smile of sunshine,
And HE molded her heart of pure gold.
In her eyes He placed bright shining stars,
In her cheeks , fair roses you see.
God made that wonderful mother,
And He gave that dear mother to all of us.

I have no doubt that he prayed for his children and grandchildren. So I am extremely proud and very thankful that 100 year later Bethel "A" is still that Light on the Corner sharing God's amazing grace and love to the least, the last and the lost.

Mom and Dad, thank you for all the years of love, guidance, patience and nurturing you have given us. We've learned a lot and continuously learn from you, even now. The love and respect you share and show us, has been so encouraging. You have shown what it means to love unconditionally. You have given of yourselves even when we didn't deserve your giving. You are and have been the perfect example of what love is, not to just to us but others who cross your path. At ages 92 and 91 and almost 70 years of marriage, we celebrate you and the love, compassion and happiness you have bestowed upon us. For this we are grateful to you and we love you. We are blessed to have you as parents.

A rose once grew where all could see,
Sheltered beside a garden wall,
And, as the days passed swiftly by,
It spread its branches, straight and tall.

On April 20, 1957, a beam of light shone through
A crevice that had open wide
The rose bent gently toward the warmth,
Then passed to the other side.

Although, we deeply feel its loss,
We know the rose blooms there.
Her beauty even greater now,
Nurture by God's own loving care.

The Mary C. Jenkins Community Center: located right at the intersections of Oakdale Street, Mills Avenue and Cashiers Valley Road in Brevard, has been a vital part of the Rosenwald Community for more than 60 years, hosting everything from birthday parties, girl scout, boy scout, garden club meetings, wedding receptions, anniversary parties fashion and talent Shows, and scholarship awards banquets.

This was a positive place to come together for all ages and all races. The following pictures may be disturbing but, the ending of one era has to take place so a new one can began, like the phoenix rising from the ashes.

The Mary C. Jenkins Community Center Board and the citizens of the Rosenwald Community and surrounding areas are excited to embark on their greatest project ever, the MCJCC Revitalization project.
